

Evening Telegraph PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED) AT THE EVENING TELEGRAPH BUILDING, No. 108 S. Third Street.

Some Figures of the Election. The election returns from all the counties of the State have at last been officially received, and General John W. Geary's majority for Governor is 17,135 votes.

The election of 1865 is no test whatever, as but little interest was taken in the result, and but a very slight vote was polled. Let us then, compare it with the vote of 1864. At that time the majority for Mr. Lincoln was 20,075.

Let us look at the gains in the Democratic vote in some of the strongholds of the conservatives. Berks gave in 1864 19,973, in 1865 20,409; increase, 533—of which, Republican, gain 511; Democratic gain 22.

We have already stated the causes which conspired to cause our loss in our city, while in Pittsburgh our loss was so small as to be merely due to the fluctuations of popular opinion.

The Athletics the Victors. YESTERDAY the second match between the Athletics and Atlantic Base Ball Clubs for the championship of America came off in our city, and resulted in the overwhelming success of the Philadelphia Club.

No one had cause to complain of any mismanagement yesterday. Everything worked like machinery. There was no crush, no breaking of ropes, no fights, and no open betting.

Cholera Mortality. "The number of deaths from cholera in St. Louis, during the years of the epidemic, from about the 1st of August to the latter part of September, was over 3500."

Another survivor of the Evening Star disaster has arrived at Savannah. He tells a horrible tale of suffering and death on the part of his companions.

A Financial Phenomenon and its Cause. THE United States Five-twenties, although all issued within two months of each other, and all guaranteed by the same authority, and bearing the same interest, differ widely in the prices they bring in our market.

The argument clearly to be deduced from this phenomenon is that we ought to have at once a funded debt—that all our varied loans be reduced to a common form.

Political Equality and Social Equality. THERE never was a greater fallacy than that which maintains that political equality implies social equality. Political equality is simply equality before the law, and consists in the enjoyment of equal political rights.

In the special election in seven counties in Tennessee for members of the Legislature, the radicals have gained three.

The number of Southern newspapers which support the Constitutional amendment has largely increased of late.

The official returns in Indiana make the Republican majority 14,000.
